Blast Kills 12

TERRE HAUTE, Ind. (AP)—An explosion ripped through a residential area today, killing at least 12 and 47 injured.

Deadly explosions in a house, street and falling debris killed 12 people and injured 47 others in Terre Haute today.

Indiana state police listed 12 bodies recovered from the wreckage. The other bodies were scattered on the debris but could not be reached immediately.

Fears mounted that the toll could rise even higher. George Oberman, secretary-treasurer of the demolished plant, said 14 workers still were unaccounted for.

Some 250 of a total of 275 workers were in the plant when the explosion of undetermined nature shattered the brick building. The plant had been closed throughout the New Year's holiday and then had a theory that a gas leakage may have been the cause.

Six of the dead were identified yesterday as Carl Bender, George D. Kahl, Andrew Hupka, Homer Lee, Dale Garred and Henry Cottrell.

Fire Chief Norman Foster said concentrated efforts were being made to save a survivor brought unconscious from the ruins.

Dief Back Off Holiday

Prime Minister Diefenbaker arrived back in Ottawa today from Nassau after a Bahamas holiday in which he met Prime Minister Macmillan of Britain, and President Kennedy of the U.S. for informal talks. He was accompanied by Mrs. Diefenbaker.

Federal Works Minister Fulton said in Vancouver Monday Premier Bennett of British Columbia is trying to shift blame for the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor problem "anywhere it could come to rest rather than accept it himself."

Mr. Fulton also indicated that as British Columbia Progressive Conservative leader he will demand revision of legislation under which the B.C. Electric company was taken over by the government.

Actor-producer Dick Powell, suffering from cancer, remains gravely ill in Hollywood. Powell spent three days at Newport Beach but returned to his apartment for the New Year's holiday.

UN Forces Closing In

CP from Reuters-AP ELISABETHVILLE, The Congo—United Nations forces today were closing in on Jadotville, Katanga's second biggest town where President Moise Tshombe has set up temporary headquarters.

An advanced guard of a United Nations armored column was last reported 15 miles from Jadotville, 85 miles northwest of Elisabethville, capital of secessionist Katanga province.

The column of more than 150 vehicles was backed by UN fighter planes that provided air cover Tuesday for Indian, Irish and Ethiopian troops as they crossed the Lufira River.

Mac's Note To Mr. K. Reported In Izvestia

MOSCOW (Reuters)—Prime Minister Macmillan has told Premier Khrushchev the British government would spare no efforts in the quest for a negotiated settlement of the difficult problems on which world peace depended, the Soviet government newspaper Izvestia reported today.

Art Thieves Active

TORONTO (CP)—International police and art dealers in Canada, the United States and Europe have been advised to watch for a painting, possibly worth $100,000, stolen at nearby Cooksville Friday night.

The unidentified Van Dyck portrait of the Prince of Orange was taken in its gilt frame from the main hallway of the home of Herbert Plaxton, wealthy Cooksville lawyer.

Reds Down 6 US 'Copters In South Viet Nam War

SAIGON (AP)—Communist ground forces today blasted a fleet of U.S. helicopters flying South Vietnamese government troops into battle. Three Americans, including an army captain, were reported killed and four others wounded.

South Vietnamese forces were reported to have suffered an estimated 50 casualties.

It was the deadliest blow struck at the U.S. forces aiding President Ngo Dinh Diem's pro-Western government in the civil war against the Viet Cong.

Red gunners hit 14 of the 15 U.S. helicopters taking part in the mission in the Mekong delta, bringing down about eight aircraft.

The Communists, fighting at a battalion strength of 400 men or more, stood and fought against relays of government fighter bombers striking at them instead of running for cover as they usually do after an attack.

Two of the three drownings were in Nova Scotia, while the other was in B.C. Four fire deaths were in Ontario. New Brunswick and Quebec reported one each.

One of B.C.'s three deaths by miscellaneous causes resulted from a snowslide. A Vancouver girl was killed Sunday when an avalanche buried 14 University of British Columbia students on a skiing expedition to Field, B.C. The other 13 dug themselves out.

A baby was suffocated by a plastic sheet and a woman was fatally injured in falling down stairs in the other B.C. deaths.

Two persons were asphyxiated in Quebec and in Nova Scotia one person died of exposure and another from carbon monoxide poisoning. A New Brunswick man suffered a fatal heart attack shovelling snow.

The survey does not include industrial accidents, slayings or known suicides.

Castro Calls JFK A Vulgar Pirate

PRESS IN UK WARNS KENNEDY: DON'T PLAY AT DOMINANT ROLE

LONDON (AP)—British newspapers cautioned President Kennedy today against imposing strains on the Western alliance by attempting to play too dominant a role.

Concern was evident here at the U.S. president's intention to exert stronger leadership over the West's cold war policies even at the cost of offending sensitive allies. These reports attributed to sources close to the president, received wide circulation.

The Daily Mail ran a story headlined "I Decide for the West," says Kennedy. It said in the body of the story that Kennedy "is in a supremely confident if not cocky mood following the success of his Cuba crisis confrontation with Mr. Khrushchev."

Other papers followed the same line.

Boast Of Forcing U.S. To Pay For Bay Of Pigs Prisoners

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP)—Cuban Premier Castro attacked President Kennedy today as a "vulgar pirate chief" and said Cuba had forced the United States government to pay the ransom for the prisoners released through the Bay of Pigs.

"Even though they try to disguise the imperialists' greed to pay out money the indignity that the revolutionary tribunals set for the Giron Beach invaders," Castro declared in a televised address marking the fourth anniversary of his revolution.

"They call it ransom but the fact is that they had to accept the payment of indemnifications," Castro said. "For the first time in its history, imperialism paid an indemnification of war."

Castro criticized Kennedy bitterly for his warm welcome to the Cuban rebel prisoners who returned to Havana after their release from Cuban jails.

"This man acted like a vulgar pirate chief to meet with premier told a crowd gathered these cowards and then say to in Havana's Plaza de la Revolucion that their flag would union."

Second Slide Thunders Down To Seal Off Rogers Pass Route

REVELSTOCK (CP)—A second slide thundered down the Rogers Pass section of the Trans-Canada Highway today in the wake of an avalanche which trapped four persons in their cars in a concrete snowed in area Tuesday night.

In the Tuesday night slide a federal government snowplow twice missed burial in the snow. It had just entered the 1,000-foot Lamark canyon, shed when the snow tumbled down.

It passed the west-bound cars and had just cleared the west entrance when another slide tumbled down, blocking the road.

Trapped in the shed for five hours were RCMP Cpl. J. Konopinski of Winnipeg, en route to Prince George, and Mrs. R. C. Peters and their nine-month old baby. The Peters are from Birch Island, 80 miles north of Kamloops.

But Styles, superintendent of Mount Revelstoke and Glacier National Parks, said the two trapped persons in their cars in a concrete snowed in area Tuesday night.

He said an unprecedented 100 inches of snow fell in the Revelstoke-Golden section of the highway between Dec. 26 and Jan. 1. There was nothing in the records of the last 30 years to compare with it.

Student Killed By Avalanche One Of 8 B.C. Holiday Deaths

By THE CANADIAN PRESS A 21-year-old University of B.C. student, buried Sunday beneath an avalanche in the east of the province was one of eight persons who died accidentally during the New Year's holiday.

Four persons lost their lives in traffic accidents, one was drowned, a baby was suffocated and in Vancouver, an elderly lady fell down a flight of stairs.

Jean Sharp of Vancouver, on a week-long skiing trip with 13 others from UBC, was buried when an avalanche came swiftly down Whaleback Mountain near Field. (See story page 3).

Missing Pilot Sought In B.C.

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—A search was to resume today for a pilot and his Beaver seaplane, missing on an 80-mile flight from the Queen Charlotte Islands to Prince Rupert.

All marine traffic in the area has been asked to watch for any sign of the seaplane piloted by a 27-year-old man identified only as Johnston.

Last contact with the pilot was at 6:42 p.m. Monday when he said he would continue the 50-minute flight when visibility improved after landing in Prince Rupert Channel, 50 miles south of here.

Remarks On Captive Cuban People Scored In Speech To Havana Parade

He sneered at the remarks Kennedy had addressed to "the captive people of Cuba" and declared:

"We are free and we are the free territory of Cuba. Now more than ever we are respected, and the best proof is the very respect which we inspire in the imperialists, the respect which is inspired by a people who cannot be made to submit."

Castro spoke after a military parade which lasted 12 hours and featured as its climax a display of coastal and surface-to-air rockets.

The anti-aircraft rockets were described as the most modern in existence.

"They can knock down any enemy plane at its highest flight ceiling," said a commentator. The televised parade was watched by millions here.

The coastal rockets were called a "new and powerful arm of our armed forces."

Earlier in the parade, Soviet-built tanks passed in front of a reviewing stand occupied by Castro and other government officials. Other weapons displayed included rocket launchers, anti-tank artillery, machine-guns and heavy artillery.

Military units included infantrymen, sailors and male and female militia companies. Helicopters and MIG jet fighter planes passed overhead.

Hurt Father Saves Children

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A father safely caught his four children as they were dropped from the second storey of their burning home today, even though he had broken his arm when he jumped.

Patrick Zichy, 38, was awakened early today by his wife, Maria, when fire broke out in a downstairs chandelier.

He jumped to the ground, broke his arm, and suffered cuts and bruises, but caught each of his four children as his wife dropped them into his arms. Mrs. Zichy was uninjured when she leaped to the ground.

The children, Peter, 6, Thomas, 5, Bernadette, 2, and Martin, five months, were uninjured. Their father was treated at a Windsor hospital.

Firemen said the blaze, which cut off escape by the stairs, caused more than $1,000 damage to the two-storey brick home.

ACCUSES U.S.

British philosopher Bertrand Russell has accused the United States of not living up to its part of the bargain ending the Cuban crisis, the newspaper Revolution reported today in Havana.

Salute, Warning Greet New Year Around World

all the countries represented at the gathering "above all, the most powerful among them—were endowed with means of destruction so terrible that every one knows that by putting them to work they would proceed to their own destruction."

De Gaulle added: "I believe, like you, in the possibility of peace and in the compulsion of peace."

President Kennedy welcomed in the New Year at a party in Palm Beach, Fla. He and his wife attended a 10:30 a.m. mass at St. Edward's Roman Catholic Church. Kennedy later attended the Orange Bowl football game in Miami.

In Vatican City, Pope John blessed a holiday crowd of 50,000 in St. Peter's Square.

Peking radio, broadcasting an editorial of the Peking People's Daily, said things were good in China in 1962—even though "our enemies at home and abroad created all kinds of trouble for us."

New Year's greetings between Soviet and Chinese leaders took second place in most Chinese newspapers to editorials of Pao-tsun Tse-tung, the Italian Communist leader. He was charged for "dragging further and further from Marxism-Leninism."

VERNON'S FIRST '63 baby, eight-pound, 11 ounce Gordon Kenneth, was born to Mrs. and Mr. Gary Anderson of Lumbly, at 5:25 a.m. Jan. 1. His mother is the first to hold him.

Vernon's First '63 Baby A Surprise For Daddy

VERNON (Staff) — The most surprised person in Vernon New Year's Day was undoubtedly Gary Anderson, father of this city's first 1963 baby.

The surprise was not the fact that the baby was born on New Year's Day, but the speed in which the infant arrived.

The Andersons, from Lumbly, were in Vernon for New Year's eve festivities and fortunately decided to stay in the city with relatives for the night. At 5:20 a.m. Barbara Anderson checked into the hospital and barely made the maternity floor. At 5:25 a.m. her son was born.

"My husband was still signing me in at the admittance desk when Gordon arrived," she said. "He was certainly surprised when he came up to find out how I was and discovered I had already given birth," the dark-haired 29-year-old mother said.

Soldier Known In Vernon Honored For Congo Action

VERNON (Staff) — A 29-year-old army officer, who attended Vernon summer camp in 1961, has been awarded the decoration of a member of the most excellent order of the British Empire (MBE) for distinguished and meritorious service of the highest order during service in the Congo in 1961.

Captain J. P. R. F. (Roger) Beauregard, a native of Gravelbourg, Sask., and now serving in Victoria with the first battalion, Princess Pats, was given the award in the New Year's honours list. This is the second such award made in peace time to a serving soldier since the end of the Korean hostilities.

During heavy fighting in Katanga in December 1961, Capt. Beauregard, then a lieutenant, was in charge of a Canadian signals detachment.

Blades Embarrass Vees With Trouncing By 15-1

VERNON (Staff) — Vernon Blades embarrassed the Penitents Vees 15-1 here New Year's day to capture its second win in as many games in Okanagan Junior Hockey League action before a crowd of less than 100. None of the 15 goals were scored in the second period.

Forward Gord Kneschansky paced the Blades with five goals and three assists. Bob Stein, Corky Agat and Howie McNeil each counted two singles went to Ted Palm, Ralph Litzberger, Lee Carter and Dale Schuchman. Penitents' sole goal was scored by Mike McAttocker, who he opened the scoring at the 2:45 mark of the first period. But the Vees' hopes were shattered as minutes later Agat started Vernon's scoring spree followed by Ted Palm, Gord Kneschansky and Litzberger to make the score 4-1.

In the second frame, Vernon racked up nine goals and in the

Forestry Group Planning New Valley Programs

Junior Forest Wardens Chief Warden of B.C. A. Moyer, in his annual report, has announced that 1962 was an eventful year for the Junior Forest Wardens in the province.

There are currently 5500 wardens undergoing training in B.C. recognized by their red shirts, red peaked hats, green ties, and white lanyards.

In the Okanagan many of the boys are trained under adult supervision in organized JFW districts. Warden districts are being organized in Penticton, Kelowna, Vernon, and Enderby. Adult supervisors for Kelowna are as follows: Don Mackinnon, Harold Lamoureux, Carl Brice. The Canadian Forestry Association, parent body of the youth movement, hopes to establish new warden groups in the Okanagan during 1963.

This expansion program will give the boys aged 10-16 years, now studying the warden program of studies by correspondence, a chance to join a supervised club and make practical application of their studies in the woods.

In 1962 32 Junior Forest Wardens from the Okanagan attended camp at Evans Lake—50 miles north of Vancouver.

During the coming year, it was announced today, accommodation for 70 Okanagan boys will be made at the coast camp.

Lecture Tour Slated For January

The Canadian Forestry Association of British Columbia announces that the school lecture tour will reconvene in School District 23 Monday, Jan. 7.

During the week, eight schools from Peachland to Winfield will hear Walter Gray, regional supervisor for the C.F.A. in a combined film and lecture period. The students will learn the true meaning of forest conservation.

The same conservation message will be carried to the schools of Vernon, Lumby, and Armstrong, the following week.

Theme of all Canadian Forestry Association work is "Wise use of British Columbia's renewable natural resources of woods, water, soils and wildlife."

Night School Courses Listed Saturday

"One of your New Year's resolutions may include developing a new interest, or taking a little time to improve your capabilities. You are asked to look at the new Adult Education Courses, sponsored by the Board of School Trustees, District 23, which will appear in the Saturday, Jan. 5 issue of the Courier," director William Halyk said today.

Among the post-Christmas offerings will be "Portion Control and Food Costing," an invaluable course to those in catering management. Lectures will be given by experts brought in from Vancouver. "Let's Look at Canada," a survey of Canadian history to Confederation, is to be given in an entertaining light by Mr. D. S. C. Wood of the Senior High staff. "A Survey of the Plant Kingdom," for those inclined toward the natural sciences, will be offered by Dr. Gwen Bray, plant ecologist doing research in the Okanagan on a U.S. National Science Foundation grant. "Something for everyone," says director Halyk, "learn with me in '63'."

Kelowna Witnesses Invited To Oliver

Kelowna congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses is among those in the south Okanagan to be invited to attend a three-day training program at Oliver next weekend.

U.S. Army Private Receives Honors

U.S. Army Private Nelson W. Graves, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelson W. Graves, 247 Richter St., Kelowna, was a recent honor graduate of the Fixed Station Transmitter Repair Course at the U.S. Army Signal Centre and School at Fort Monmouth, N.J.

In the 21-week course Private Graves was trained to install, operate and repair radio transmitters and associated equipment used in long range military communication systems.

A 1957 graduate of Kelowna High School, he entered the Army in April 1962 and received basic training at Fort Ord, Calif. He was assigned here in June for advanced specialized training. Prior to entering the Army he was an electronics technician with Hewlett Packard Electronics Corp. in Palo Alto, Calif.

The U.S. Army Signal Centre and School at Fort Monmouth, "Home of the Signal Corps," annually trains some 7,500 enlisted and officer students in over 50 courses covering the fields of radio, wire, data processing, radar and photography.

MORE COWS ON FEED EDMONTON (CP)—Because of this year's heavy harvest, more cattle are expected to be put on feed, I. A. Coles, supervisor of Alberta Feeder Associations, reports. But he says farmers are reluctant to buy cattle now at high prices because of anticipated low finished prices in 1963.

BUSINESS TOO GOOD KELSEY BAY, B.C. (CP)—Booming business was a nightmare for hotel owner George Parker. Some 250 bus passengers, stalled by a mudslide, descended on his 35-bed hotel and small cafeteria. Every part of the hotel was jammed and the cafeteria cleaned out.

HONOR TO EXPERT BRANDON, Man. (CP)—Some 700 persons honored Dr. James R. Bell, 72, at a testimonial dinner here following his retirement as Manitoba's deputy minister of agriculture, a post that elapsed 46 years in the department.

FULTON HERE WEDNESDAY

Campaigning David Fulton, unopposed in his bid to seek provincial party leadership of the Progressive Conservatives will be in Kelowna Wednesday at an open luncheon at 12:30 at the Aquatic Hallroom, local spokesman Harold Marshall said today.

Mr. Fulton's schedule, which is limited, will take him to Vernon in the morning and Penticton by 4 p.m. The luncheon is open for anyone who would like to attend.

Only Minor Accidents Mar New Years Holiday

Other than a few minor accidents, RCMP are investigating.

At 10:30 New Year's Eve a car driven by David Sharkey knocked over a fire hydrant at the intersection of Parkway and Sutherland.

A car owned by Lloyd Bowden, owner of Parkway and Sutherland, was reported missing.

At 4:05 on Monday a truck driven by Peter Stanton, back street in Peachland, was struck by a car driven by Peter Stanton.

The owner returned a few hours later the car was missing. It was later found in Penticton.

At 6 p.m. on Monday a car owned by Harold McDougall, Westbank, was involved in an accident about five miles south of the Okanagan Lake Bridge on Highway 97.

The car was proceeding south when it apparently skidded and rolled over causing approximately $100 damage.

When police arrived there was no one at the scene of the accident. RCMP are investigating.

On Tuesday, Jan. 1, two cars, one driven by Douglas A. South, Kelowna, and the other driven by Thomas Brummitt, also of Kelowna, were in a collision at the corner of Queensway and Water St.

DAMAGE $150 The total damage to the two cars was estimated at approximately $150. Investigation is continuing.

Also on Tuesday, Jan. 1, a car driven by Douglas A. South, Kelowna, and one driven by Peter Knicker were in a collision at the intersection of Birch Ave. and Pandey St.

Total damage is estimated at $200. Police investigation is continuing.

In the only other incident, three windows were broken in a vacant house, the house, which is on Fuller Ave., is owned by E. Brethkreutz. Police are investigating.

R. G. RUTHERFORD

The funeral service will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at First United Church.

In his lifetime here, Mr. Rutherford, one of the founders of the Kelowna Gyo Club, was its president, a governor of Gyo International District Four and the Gyo International president about 1947.

A founder of the Okanagan Cariboo Trail Association, he was also president of the board of trade for two years and treasurer since its inception of the Kelowna Students' Assistance Fund organization.

One of his close friends said this morning: "He was a fine man and he will be sorely missed."

Annual Bonspiel Played In Peachland

PEACHLAND — Eight rinks entered the annual family mixed bonspiel at the weekend, five from Peachland and three from Westbank.

Two events were played, and prizes were also given for novelty events.

"A" event was won by Ist, Dennis Araki rink; 2nd, J. Z. Blower and family.

"B" event was won by Ist, Verne Cousins family; 2nd, Jack Garraway and family.

Novelty events were won by Basil Jennings, Tom Itani both of Westbank, Verne Cousins and Paul Mehler of Peachland.

Ballet Group Takes Long Way 'Round

The Royal Winnipeg Ballet is taking the long way round to its appearance in Kelowna Jan. 28, sponsored by the Kelowna Rotary Club.

The company leaves Winnipeg Jan. 9 to fulfill a two-week engagement in Jamaica and Nassau.

Forty-two strong and with 8,000 pounds of costumes and scenery, the company will take 11 ballets including six works by four Canadian choreographers.

The ballet will take part in the Jamaican independence celebrations and will be the largest dance attraction ever to visit the islands.

Bottle Drive To Pay The Rent

Kelowna Boys' Club members will be out in force, 50 of them tomorrow to help pay the club's rent.

The club's first bottle drive, will be held from 6 to 8 p.m. Director Herb Sullivan said today anyone with a supply of bottles may call from 1 to 5 p.m. PO 2-5056 for early pickup.

The drive is being organized by the Mothers' Auxiliary.

New Year's Festive In Peachland

A large crowd ushered in the New Year on Monday night when the Ladies' Curling Club hosted its annual New Year's Eve dance.

The Athletic Hall had been tastefully decorated with colored streamers intermingled with silver stars and colored lights were used on the stage. Favours, given at midnight added further to the festive tone.

The crowd danced the hours away to the music of Ted Beet's orchestra, and refreshments were served by the club.

Many out-of-town guests were noted, with a good number from Kelowna and Westbank others coming from Burns Lake, Summerland, Penticton and Princeton.

Lucky winner of the electric clock was Mrs. W. B. Gore of Westbank.

Mild Temperatures Expected To Remain

A weak ridge of high pressure brought partial clearing to many parts of the province Tuesday night.

However, the respite from stormy weather will be short-lived.

Another Pacific storm will bring rain to the north coast by midday and this will spread to the south coast during the afternoon and evening.

Temperatures will continue mild today and Thursday with the cold air remaining north of Prince George.

Last year's temperatures (1961) were a high of 35 and low of 30 on Dec. 31, a high of 49 and low of 28 on the 31st of Jan. 1, 1962 and yesterday a high of 47 and a low of 33.

Aldermen Give Much In Serving People

Within a few days now, two aldermen will end their terms as servants of the Kelowna people and at the first meeting of the new council on Monday, two new aldermen will be sworn in to replace them.

This all seems routine, but behind it all there is a very real story of self-sacrifice for the public weal. The basic motive behind any person running for public office is a desire to serve in some degree one's fellow citizens.

Certainly the amount of the pay involved is not enough to persuade anyone to seek office. During the year an alderman is a sitting duck for every appeal to such an extent that little of his stipend is left for him to enjoy. A businessman must have an organization perfected before he enters municipal affairs, else he will suffer very substantial loss. Also he must have a very understanding wife because meetings will occupy much of his time, interfering with social engagements and his home life.

These things are rather obvious, but the man who accepts civic office must be himself prepared to take much. He must realize that on election he immediately becomes the prime target for every disgruntled taxpayer, that his actions and his opinions are of necessity, a public concern.

There are men who cannot "take" the demands of public life and there are those who cannot stand the glare of the spotlight. These people will find public life uncomfortable and, indeed, unbearable. They will not remain long in office; either they will be asked out by the voters or they will refuse to stand again when their term is up.

However, praises be, there are those who recognize that public life has its irritations as well as its satisfactions and are able to reach a reasonable balance between them. They find that the satisfaction of public service outweighs the irritations of public office.

Kelowna's two retiring aldermen this year must have found this to be so. Alderman Crookes during his period has been an earnest and conscientious public servant, giving much of his time to fire brigade and hospital matters. It is to be hoped that Mr. Crooke's withdrawal from the municipal scene is but a temporary one. He already has a valuable background gained during his term of office and he is a much too valuable a man to be lost permanently from civic affairs.

Alderman Jackson has served the people of this city for more than a decade. While taking part in all council activities, in latter years he has been serving in a valuable but unspectacular role. He did pilot the city through the difficult boundary extension period but his most effective work has been done in those vital but somewhat dull fields of municipal relations with other governments. He has been the city's liaison with other municipalities, it has been he who watched provincial and federal affairs and assessed their implications upon the city and kept the council well informed on such matters.

To the average citizen, this may appear to have been a routine, humdrum matter. Actually such is far from the case. Such a very large percentage of the city's affairs are affected by or conducted in conjunction with other governments that the alderman holding the chairmanship of this committee is actually the key among the aldermen.

Mr. Jackson has been an exceptionally fine chairman of this important committee. He has kept Kelowna one of the best informed of all the cities of this province and, by so doing, has saved and "made" considerable revenue for the city and at the same time has been able to avoid actions which could have only resulted in embarrassment for the city.

Mr. Jackson's long experience will now be lost to the city. One cannot quarrel with his decision to have a rest from civic affairs, but one can hope that his withdrawal will be of a temporary nature and that after a rest he will again place his experience and ability at the service of the Kelowna ratepayers.

There is a saying that all men are expendable and that there is always someone available to take one's place in the scheme of things. In the case of Mr. Jackson, this old saying does not seem to apply. Of all the members of the 1963 council, which one is fitted to assume the peculiar duties which Mr. Jackson carried out so very well indeed? At the moment, this newspaper can see no satisfactory replacement available. None of the council would seem to have the very peculiar traits necessary to fill this important post acceptably. Indeed, on Monday when Mayor Parkinson names his committee, it will be this appointment which will be of major interest.

CANADA'S TRADE BALANCES

Canada's trade is likely to end up roughly in balance this year compared with a surplus of exports over imports of $121,000,000 in 1961. Both exports and imports increased this year. In the first 10 months of 1962 exports were up 8.6 per cent and imports 1.6 per cent. Graph details trend in both for the post-war years. — (CP Newsphoto)

TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH

Frostbite Needs Care

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

This is the second of a series of two articles. It should be obvious, but I know it isn't that physical condition is important in the matter of frostbite and freezing. We've harped at length, and perhaps to good effect, against sitters-outdoors who go out on weekends and try to play 36 holes of golf. After they get into condition, they can take such exercise.

It's the same with cold. Every hunting season we read about hunters who die of heart attacks. It isn't only the exertion. They overtax themselves because the body has to work harder to stay warm.

On the other hand, children and vigorous young people get frostbite because they don't recognize, or out of bravado, ignore the signs of freezing. Numbness or loss of sensation is the first sign. When badly chilled flesh begins to feel comfortable or even give an illusion of being "warm," look out. This isn't a case of getting "a second wind" against the cold. It's the beginning of frostbite.

Frostbite, remember, is actual freezing. Particles of water in the tissues turn to ice. The first visible sign is a waxy appearance. Deeper frostbite brings swelling, blue discoloration later turning gray, and then blistering.

Don't try to prick the blisters. Wait until a doctor can do so under sterile conditions, because the damaged flesh is vulnerable to infections which otherwise it would throw off.

If in the wilderness, rush the sufferer to real shelter. There's nothing to be gained by thawing him in a temporary one and then having him freeze again as you go on. The freezing, thawing and refreezing does far more damage than allowing him to remain frozen longer in the first place.

A frozen hand can be tucked under an armpit, your own or someone else's, on the way. Frozen ears, noses, chins or cheeks (the other likeliest places, except feet) can be covered. But don't try to rub; you'll damage the flesh and accomplish nothing. Don't rub with snow. What the flesh needs is warmth.

With frozen toes or feet, get boots and socks off (gently) once you reach shelter. Again, don't chafe or rub. And don't expose frozen flesh to hot, dry heat such as a stove or exhaust pipe.

Once in a cabin or house, you can speed thawing by soaking frozen toes or fingers in warm—not hot—water. It should not be above 110 degrees, which will feel mildly warm to you. Don't trust the victim's sense of warm or cold, because he can't tell.

And two more rigid rules. No smoking. The nicotine contracts the tiny surface blood vessels and restricts circulation where you most want to stimulate it.

No alcohol, at least until the victim is thawed. Again, it deranges the normal circulation patterns. Don't drink alcohol before going out into the cold, or while in it. In severe or prolonged cold, the false "warming" of alcohol can lead to death, while non-drinkers survive the same exposure without harm.

Dear Dr. Molner: What causes a sore tongue? My doctor finds no evidence of cancer. — B.V.J.

Here we go again! Cancer isn't the only disease in the world. It isn't even the most prevalent one. Faulty nutrition, with vitamin deficiency; allergy; various forms of infection; toothpaste; a jagged tooth—all these are common causes of sore tongue.

Canada Near Turning Point In History As A "Merchant"

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada moved closer to 1963 to what may be a critical turning point in its history as a trading nation.

Britain's continued negotiations to join the European Common Market and the adoption by the United States of a bold freer trade policy were highlights of international trade developments during the year.

But their impact on Canada won't be known until 1964—perhaps even later.

British membership in the six-nation Common Market—a probability but still not a certainty—now appears delayed until the start of 1964, assuming Britain can surmount formidable problems remaining in its Brussels negotiations with the Common Market.

That year will also see the anticipated start of vital international negotiations on the reduction of tariffs and other barriers to trade. Spurring this move is President Kennedy's new trade legislation with its promise of big reductions in the tariff wall around the rich American market.

British entry to Europe would eventually end Canada's preferred trade position in a $700,000,000-a-year export market. The so-called "Kennedy point" of trade negotiations would almost certainly require Canada to reduce its own tariffs in order to benefit from the international move to free trade.

With these movements, changes in respect to 1963 for Canada will be a year of preparation.

A senior government official described it as "a year of intensive study of the whole Canadian economy to prepare Canada's position for the changes ahead."

The year now ending was also one of preparation.

EFFORTS IN 1962

There were continued efforts to improve the competitive strength of Canadian producers, centered on the devaluation of the Canadian dollar.

The federal government's export promotion campaign continued, bolstered by provincial government efforts, and plans were laid for Ottawa's biggest yet export sales drive next spring.

Both exports and imports registered strong increases this year. Though final reports won't be in for some months, one well-informed source estimated Canada's merchandise trade will be roughly in balance this year compared with last year's $124,000,000 surplus—first surplus in nine years.

For the first 10 months of 1962 there was a trade deficit of $34,700,000. Reflecting the effects of dollar devaluation, exports were up 8.6 per cent to $5,239,800,000 and imports, at $5,216,500,000, were 11.6 per cent above year-earlier levels.

MOSTLY TO U.S.

The export gain was wholly accounted for by larger sales to the U.S., with overseas shipments weakening. The import rise occurred despite the deterrent created by the exchange rate difference.

Officials said they expect 1963 to show further progress in the reduction of Canada's balance-of-payments deficit. This deficit reflects not only merchandise trade but also international payments for such things as interest and dividends, tourist spending and freight.

For years Canada's total foreign earnings in all these fields have fallen far short of payments made abroad. This deficit was the underlying cause of last spring's foreign exchange crisis, touched off when the central banks that customarily offset the deficits turned into a capital outflow instead.

Last year's balance-of-payments deficit was $287,000,000, well below the deficits of $1,143,000,000 in 1960 and $1,504,000,000 in 1959.

One expert said the deficit for 1963 might be reduced again to around $90,000,000, and he predicted a substantial further improvement next year.

DELAYED IMPACT

Main basis for this optimism is the reduced exchange rate on the Canadian dollar. As seen here, devaluation has not yet had its full impact in boosting export earnings and in helping make Canadian-made goods more competitive with imports.

However, one factor which gave Canadian producers an additional edge this year is not expected to continue as much longer. Import surcharges of five, 10 or 15 per cent were imposed in June on half of Canada's import trade as part of the emergency program to meet the foreign exchange crisis.

About one-sixth of the surcharges have since been lifted, and the strong recovery in foreign exchange reserves since June is one of several indications that the remaining surcharges will be removed before long.

The year now ending saw the conclusion of more than two years of tariff negotiations under GATT, the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

The GATT talks at Geneva produced some limited mutual tariff reductions between Canada and the U.S. and a scattering of minor cuts in the Common Market tariff perhaps of greater benefit to Canada were the reductions negotiated between the U.S. and other countries which, under GATT rules, apply to exports of a member country including Canada.

BRUSSELS SNAG

Britain's negotiations at Brussels to enter the Common Market held Canada's attention throughout the year. At one point it had been thought they would reach a conclusion by mid-summer, and a Commonwealth prime ministers' conference was scheduled for September to consider the result.

But the Brussels talks hit a snag. As a result of a London prime ministers' meeting had to suspend (final judgment on whether Britain had been able to obtain adequate safeguards for the vital trade interests of its Commonwealth partners in the British market).

The London conference did have a call from Prime Minister Diefenbaker for a free-world conference to prepare the way for a fresh round of international trade negotiations. Mr. Diefenbaker left got support for the idea from President Kennedy, and GATT trade ministers will meet in Geneva early next year to lay the groundwork for the major "Kennedy round" negotiations of 1964.

RIDS FOR TRADE

The trade department's export-boosting efforts this year included the dispatch of some 20 trade missions abroad. U.S. departments of state buyers were flown in chartered planes to four "sample towns" of Canadian-made consumer goods at Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg and Vancouver. At three industrial conferences, government and industry plugged the Buy Canada theme for industries now importing parts and supplies for their plants.

Ottawa's main promotion effort in 1963 will be a six-week program early next spring costing more than $500,000. More than 700 foreign buyers are to be flown to Canada, some to four Canadian machinery manufacturing plants but most to attend a three-day national samples show in Toronto of consumer goods. Finally, Canada's 130 overseas trade commissioners will be flown to Ottawa to discuss export prospects with any Canadian businessmen trying to sell abroad. It's expected to be nearly twice as large as the first such export promotion conference of December, 1960.

OTTAWA REPORT

Burned Effigy Not A Prank

By PATRICK NICHOLSON

The burning of effigies of CNR President Donald Gordon by French-Canadian students was no mere childish prank of the Christmas season. On the contrary, it is widely regarded in political circles here as a serious protest by French Canada against the English-speaking conspiracy to subjugate Quebec.

We can be sure that this is no new situation suddenly developing, no chance temporary discoloration of the Canadian scene which can, like a snowfall, be made to disappear by the breath of a warm wind of camaraderie.

But what we must guard against, in the view of many nationalists and worried figures on Parliament Hill, is the risk that Quebec's warning may now be aggravated by a supercilious stance by English-speaking Canada, with the result that tempers lead to an irreparable cleavage in Confederation. We are now within sight of our 100th birthday as a nation. But we are also within sight of the complete and final collapse as one nation. The path we take from this unexpected and underestimated crossroad in our history will depend upon the wisdom and tolerance of our political leaders in the weeks ahead.

This column has recently drawn attention to one small and overlooked but typical example of prejudice against our French-speaking fellow-Canadians. There are 32 posts in the federal government service of the very tiptop rank of deputy minister or its equivalent. Just three of these were until recently held by French-Canadians, of whom one has just died. Yet that race, in Quebec and now overspilling extensively into New Brunswick, Ontario and with scattered communities elsewhere, makes up about one-third of our population. Why does that race not enjoy the prestige and power of one-third of those senior civil service posts?

INDUSTRIAL PRODUCTION INDEX (1949=100)

OUTPUT UP

Canada's industrial production index has climbed steadily since March, 1961, to a high of 119.3 in September this year. Graph shows monthly movement in the last three years of the index, based on 1949 production levels equaling 100 and adjusted to discount seasonal factors. — (CP Newsmap)

B.N.A. OUTDATED

Our constitution is the British North American Act. This prescribes, in section 133, that either the English or the French language may be used in any federal or Quebec legislative assembly or court. At that time, this was fair and reasonable. But the overspill of French-Canadians into other provinces now establishes a reasonable case for the recognition in other provinces too of our bilingual, bicultural and bicultural nature as a nation.

This situation was unexpectedly and thoroughly aired in the closing debate of our House of Commons before the Christmas holiday. There were distinct signs that it might become the subject of partisan politics, might even be selected as the chosen battleground between the parties. That way can lead only to disaster and disintegration. Either Canada recognizes all Canadians as equal, or the new inalienable right of self-determination will take out of confederation whatever minority group finds itself condemned to permanent second class citizenship within confederation.

'Instant' X-Rays Found

LONDON (Reuters) — Three British scientists have stumbled on a revolutionary new electronic photographic plate capable of giving "instant" x-ray pictures.

Dr. Peter Ranby and two other scientists were looking for a low-cost, luminous panel for auto dashboards when they made the discovery.

Their electronic photographic plate is sensitive to both light and invisible radiation and it can be used at least 10,000 times.

The plate, made of coated steel, gives an immediately-visible picture without need of any form of developing. The discovery will mean "on-the-spot" pictures, reduce the danger of radiation and lower the cost of Britain's state health service. It may even have precious seconds in a cancer operation.

Unfair Criticism

From time to time the Royal Canadian Mounted Police are unfairly criticized for carrying out their duties. The present hue and cry of "police state methods" which has been raised over alleged RCMP questioning of Canadian university professors and students about leftist leanings on the campus is one of these occasions.

The RCMP, it should be recalled, is charged with responsibility for the nation's internal security. And this, among many other things, requires that the federal force keep tabs on what, if anything, Moscow's party liners may be up to in and about the university.

Quite obviously, unless the RCMP checks now and again, it is not going to know what's taking place on campus. If the force didn't know what's going on, it would have no way of knowing that nothing is going on that shouldn't be.

Anyone who quarrels with this argument would be well advised to remember that sedition—defined in the Oxford Dictionary as "agitation directed against the authority of a state's executive"—is still a crime under the criminal code.

And the RCMP's job is to catch criminals or, better still, to prevent crimes from taking place.

Preaching and Practice

The Council of Ministers of the 20-nation Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development recently adopted a United States resolution calling for assistance to less developed countries in expanding their exports of raw materials and manufactured goods. This, of course, means that the developed nations would have to open their domestic markets wider to competition from products of these less fortunate countries.

It is to be sincerely hoped that the United States herself intends to practice the freer trade policy which she seems to be preaching. For the present, her record is anything but good when it comes to opening up domestic markets to competition from abroad.

In deed, while it may be a bit uncharitable to say so, the U.S. has a remarkable penchant for preaching the gospel of "freer trade," and the reduction of tariff barriers, all the while taking the most extreme protectionist measures when as little as five or 10 per cent of her own domestic market is adversely affected.

AMMAN, Jordan (Reuters) —

Imagine a primitive land of mountains and valleys where Indian-style smoke signals are still the main method of communication. . . .

A land where the brown-skinned young women have astonishingly beautiful black eyes, wear their hair down to their shoulders and rarely see a man from farther away than their own little village.

This is the wild and remote Yemen, an Arabian kingdom suddenly thrust into the world's headlines by the overthrow of Imam (king) Mohammed Al-Hadi by Brig.-Gen. Abdullah Salala's republic forces in September.

By air and jeep, I recently trekked, with a few other newspaper men, into the wildest parts of the Yemen to keep a secret rendezvous with the Imam, who had been thought killed in the uprising.

royal aircraft at our disposal.

Five hours later, we were in Riyadh, the Saudi Arabian capital. We flew in a Saudi aircraft to the Red Sea port of Gizan, about 100 miles northwest of the Yemen frontier.

A long drive took us 70 miles inside the Yemen to a 10,000-foot-high mountain range. In a valley there, some 3,000 Yemeni tribal warriors, loyal to the Imam, greeted us.

The correspondents were invited into a big tent covered with tree branches. We sat with crossed legs on straw mattresses. Outside the tent, warriors waved rifles and curved daggers, shouting slogans against Salala and President Nasser of Egypt.

The black-bearded Imam, looking older than his 35 years, expressed confidence he would soon make his country "a century" Yemeni loyalists allege the republican regime is backed by 10,000 Egyptian troops which hold the capital of San'a and nearby towns.

BC's First New Year Baby Arrived Most Punctually

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
With stop - watch precision, Mrs. James K. Gowans had British Columbia's first 1963 baby Tuesday.

Her third child—and her third girl — baby Gowans was delivered in Surrey, near Vancouver, at two seconds past midnight.

Both mother and her six-pound, 14-ounce baby were reported well.

Campbell River on Vancouver Island played the baby sweepstakes differently. There, merchants heaped gifts on the last baby of 1962.

Mrs. Raymond Flynn had an eight-pound, 11-ounce boy.

He has other more subtle advantages over the first for '63 — like an earlier start in school, and a $250 tax deduction a year before those born Tuesday.

The Gowans' girl won by a long stretch in the Lower Mainland area.

Second in the New Year was a boy for Mr. and Mrs. Eablen Smith of Vancouver. He arrived at 12:28 a.m.

Other early arrivals included a son for Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ashworth of Victoria at 1:32 a.m., and a son, Martin, for Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Stewart of Prince George, born at 3:02 a.m.

Ladies' Or Babies Night Mark Canada's New Year

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
New Year's Day 1963 was a special ladies' day, or babies' night.

They began making news a split second after midnight Monday when they gave birth to at least four babies — all boys — who added their cries to the laughter and the shouting of New Year's revelers.

And ladies continued making news when eight of their number, all housewives, and a 14-year-old girl attended Governor-General Vanier's levee in Ottawa. The levee traditionally is for men only, except for women in the armed services or public office.

"It's all right, isn't it?" said one, innocently, over her strapless dress filled with the traditional Government House hot rum and brandy punch.

An aide shrugged his shoulders.

The refreshments were served in a House of Commons committee room after the guests were introduced to the Governor-General in the red-carpeted Senate chamber.

The Governor-General made everyone welcome with a smiling greeting and handshake.

SHE FOUND OUT

Diane MacKay, 14, attended the levee with her father to see what it was like.

Ottawa Mayor Charlotte Whitton and two women diplomats also were present.

The levee of Lieutenant-Governor J. K. MacKay of Ontario, Newfoundland's east coast, was a more shocking affair. As guests shuffled across the carpet of the viceregal region during the weekend, suite at Queen's Park in Toronto reached 65 miles an hour onto many built up charges of at St. John's but temperatures plunged to around 50 degrees. A weekend blizzard in Quebec added to the cold weather and temperatures rose to about five degrees above zero in Montreal and as high as 30 degrees elsewhere in Quebec.

A Quebec policeman credited the cold weather and a "well-balanced and responsible attitude of drivers" for keeping the weekend one of the most subdued and accident-free in years.

WAS A RECORD

There was no few offences and arrests that a Quebec policeman said. "It just has to be a record."

At a party on Bell Island, Nfld., a revolver fired his rifle to welcome 1963. He shot his wife in the leg.

Years Of Strife Ahead For Latin America Lands

By WATSON SIMS

Years of strife and instability lie ahead in Latin America. That is the conclusion drawn by this reporter from talking with government and private observers in a dozen Latin American countries.

The U.S. stand against Soviet planes and missiles in Cuba brought the United States its most solid official Latin American support in years.

But the importance of the diplomatic triumph appears easy to overestimate and doubtless won't be lasting.

"The greatest danger is that the United States may think it won the battle for Latin America in the fall of 1962," said a Mexican business man. "If Castro had kept his missiles the battle would have been lost. Many governments saw this and they supported the blockade. But removal of the missiles only prevented a calamity of the moment. The real problems remain."

POVERTY THE PROBLEM

Colombia's President Gutierrez Leon Valencia says the real problems are poverty and political instability.

"Castro is only a symptom. Through the blockade the United States kept the symptom from getting out of control. But the disease is still there."

Bright spots, stable governments and healthy economies are hard to find. Few of the 20 nations are without active threats of anarchy. In many, only the open threat of military force keeps the opposition at bay.

Part of the answer is a lack of democratic processes which permit continuity and the orderly transition of governments. Settlers from Spain and Portugal brought to Latin America none of the parliamentary traditions which prospered in North America.

One factor that unites most of Latin America is poverty. In many countries per-capita income is less than $300 a year and threatens to grow smaller.

ECONOMY WEAKER

Over-all, the economy of Latin America was weaker in 1961 than in 1960. Prices of exports, notably coffee, were lower. Costs of imports increased.

The output of most countries declined. Inflation had even the largest nations stumbling. Brazil, biggest and most populous of all, devalued its currency. In Argentina, one of the great beef producing nations, inflation and unemployment have left millions struggling to buy bread.

But there is no shortage of children. The 206,000,000 population is climbing by 2.6 per cent annually, bringing even more mouths to feed.

CITE U.S. PLUNDER

Even among admirers of the United States, there is a feeling that part of Latin America's troubles arise from decades of exploitation by U.S. investors.

Investors are on the defensive throughout the hemisphere and capital has been driven away that is badly needed to develop economies.

Widely held, too, is a feeling that the United States expects, even insists, that Latin America line up with the West in opposing communism, while the U.S. is spending great sums to buy such support elsewhere.

"If we could move halfway around the world this country would be flooded with U.S. aid," a Peruvian businessman said bitterly. "Nehru flirts with Moscow and you build him dams, offer him planes, Castro flirts with Moscow and you threaten invasion."

WINS FEW FRIENDS

The Alliance for Progress was designed to help, but in 17 months of operation it has failed to win many friends. It was promoted by the Kennedy administration as a program under which the U.S. would help those who helped themselves.

HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW

Written matters are favored now. Communications of all types are under a good sign also. Creative enterprises. For those who hold less interesting occupations, progress can be made by those who are extremely systematic and methodical.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, your horoscope indicates that, generally speaking, it would be wise for you to be conservative in financial affairs for most of the year. Early September and early November promise some gain, but in the meantime you should try to build up your assets slowly and review matters with an eye to finding mistakes and avoiding miscalculations which could prove costly later.

Your next really good period along monetary lines won't come along until the fall of 1963, when you can start making plans for expansion.

Where job matters are concerned, do not expect any unusual changes before November, but if you have put forth your best efforts in the interim, you should make good progress between then and the end of the year.

Next July and August should be interesting from a social standpoint, but where romance is concerned only the month of November appears interesting in your chart.

Be careful in dealings with both business and personal associates during September and October.

Milky-Way May Be Expanding Claims Canadian Astronomer

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Milky Way, the great star family to which the sun belongs, seems to be expanding, a Canadian astronomer reports.

Dr. Robert M. Petrie says the evidence is based upon a 20-year study of B stars in the heavens. These are the hottest and brightest stars in the galaxy or Milky Way. They are relatively young, and relatively few in number.

But the average B star is 700 times brighter than the sun, and this brightness makes them good yardsticks to measure their motions and distribution at distances up to several thousand light years.

The study of 600 B stars produced evidence that our sun and all other stars are moving away from the centre of the galaxy, said Petrie, director of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory in Victoria, B.C.

The Milky Way is composed of perhaps 200,000,000 stars and is one of thousands of billions of similar galaxies. There is a theory that the universe is expanding, with all the galaxies pushing away from one another.

The new evidence points to a similar expansion of the Milky Way itself.

The measuring is done through spectroscopic studies, or color fingerprints of the stars.

Manitoba Plan Aids Indians

WINNIPEG (CP) — A three-year-old government self-help program is on its way toward lifting Manitoba's 50,000 Indians and half-breeds from the depths of social and economic poverty.

The Manitoba community development program, in which the federal and provincial governments each contribute half the $100,000 being spent each year, is a long-term scheme that is described as a scientific, grass-roots attack on inherited social and economic ills.

Nucleus of the program is the work of university-trained development officers sent to outlying settlements that are predominantly Indian or half-breed.

So far, eight men, two with Indian blood, have been put into the field where they live with the people they are trying to help. Their initial aim is to inspire the Indian and half-breed to work for financial independence through individual or collective action.

They suggest and advise but never lead. It is left to the individual and his neighbors to do the job. The government says the program is already paying dividends.

SET UP COOPS

Six producer co-operatives established as a result of the program in the last year did $85,000 worth of business and have assets of $5,000. These are fishing co-ops and the others are pulpwood to supply the province's paper mills.

Four consumer co-ops and a credit union have been formed. All told, the co-ops have 550 members. Others, however, gain employment as a result of the activities of the co-ops.

One fisheries co-operative at Remora, Camperville, caught, processed and shipped to market 87,000 pounds of mullet and jackfish worth $8,000.

Among individual enterprises is one at Norway House where there now are Indian taxi drivers.

The program is the brainchild of Pierre Lagasse, a 37-year-old social scientist who was born in Gravelbourg, Sask. He recommended it in 1959 in a report on Manitoba Indians prepared for the provincial government.

The government not only followed his advice but hired him to run the program.

In his report, Mr. Lagasse said the words "Indian" and "Metis," as half-breeds are called in Manitoba, were synonymous with poverty. He found many living in isolated communities, on or near remote reserves eking out a living hunting, trapping, berry-picking and with no steady work.

DEPEND ON WELFARE

Many lived in shack towns on the fringe of white settlements. Some, unable or unwilling to work, lived from one government handout to the next. They lacked what Mr. Lagasse called an "employable personality" and marketable job skills. The community development program seeks to change that.

Developed and expanded, Mr. Lagasse said, it could integrate the 50,000 in two generations. Left to their own devices, they would never make the grade.

Mr. Lagasse said he hopes to show the world in three to five years his program will be at least paying for itself through reduced welfare payments and through taxes paid by previously unemployed Indians and Metis.

Increased income was only a start, however. It meant enriching the life of isolated communities.

His report said more than 100,000 people of Indian ancestry had already passed over the line into white society in Manitoba, many by being born into it. Others were beginning to voice protests against their station in life.

A band of 80 Indians this year picketed the nickel mine at Thompson, 400 miles north of Winnipeg, demanding work. A conference between the Indians and International Nickel, called by the government, didn't work.

Then a community development officer was sent to Thompson. Now the Indians may have a chance to make their own jobs.

Mao And Mr. K. 'Fight It Out'

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) — President Chiang Kai-shek has said Premier Khrushchev and Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tse-tung are engaged in a life and death power struggle that surely will end in Mao's liquidation.

"If Khrushchev should succeed in getting rid of Mao," Chiang said in a New Year message, "another Chinese Communist as militant as Mao will arise, only he will be more subservient to the Kremlin in trying to build a Communist world, which will be more dangerous to the free world."

Chiang said hope that the Khrushchev-Mao split will weaken the international Communist movement is "most dangerous wishful thinking."

FESTIVITIES TOO HOT FOR HONOLULU (AP) — New Year's Eve fireworks brought Honolulu its worst series of fires in years. Many persons were injured. Firemen answered 78 calls in a 21-hour period and several homes were destroyed or badly damaged.

Tribes Held Beat Reds

SARON (AP) — Mountain tribesmen called Montagnards have helped anti-Communist forces gain a precarious foothold in South Viet Nam's central highlands for the first time since French colonial days. Prospects for 1963 look fairly bright.

Scores of protected hamlets have been constructed deep in territory formerly controlled by the pro-Communist Viet Cong rebels.

Tribesmen inhabiting the region have been armed with tommy guns and other weapons and tribal striking forces are working effectively against the Viet Cong.

The highlands, covered by dense jungle, are sparsely populated, but make up about two-thirds of the land of South Viet Nam. The area has been of special importance to the Viet Cong as a corridor from Communist North Viet Nam to the rice bowl of the south, where most of the fighting takes place.

REDS SWITCH TACTICS

Viet Cong propaganda denouncing anti-Communist activities among the Montagnards has stepped up sharply. Communist guerrillas, who once went to great lengths to make friends with the Montagnards, now attack villages in force, loot undefended communities and draft tribesmen for hard labor.

Montagnards are Vietnamese citizens but of different racial and linguistic stock from the lowlanders. Many Montagnards regard the lowlanders as exploiters. Many lowlanders regard the Montagnards as savages. The government has been driving hard for the last year to overcome the breach.

Tribal striking forces can potentially supplement the many American and Vietnamese who have become good jungle fighters in the highlands.

It is there that anti-guerrilla methods are being applied by the British in the anti-Communist Malayan campaign of the 1950s, which seem to be paying off again. Military action is coupled with action to deprive the rebels of hamlet hideouts, bases and food.

West Must Seek Talks

LONDON (Reuters) — Prime Minister Macmillan says the West in 1963 must itself "seek out and make" opportunities for negotiation.

In a New Year's Eve article written for the ruling Conservative party's weekly newsletter, Macmillan says:

"What all of us yearn for most as we enter 1963 is peace—a firm peace to replace the uneasy truce achieved by a balance of nuclear power."

"It would be folly to upset that balance by weakening our own defenses. But we in the West must neglect no opportunity that presents itself for negotiation. Indeed we must ourselves seek out and make such opportunities."

Macmillan assessed the opportunities for 1963 this way:

"To keep Britain up-to-date and in the van of progress in an age of unparalleled scientific advance, to earn new prosperity and see that its fruits are even more widely shared, to use our economic strength to do our duty to our Commonwealth and other neighbors in the world and to play our full part in preserving peace and freedom."

Father, 2 Tots Die In Fire

BATHURST, N.B. (CP) — A father and two children died early today as fire destroyed their frame home three miles north of Bathurst.

Dead are Benjamin Bryar and two of his children, Carol, two months, and Francois, 4.

Mrs. Bryar was taken to hospital with burns.

Bucs And Rockets Equal In Battle For Top Spot

Although down one goal and time running out, the Rockets never let up, continuing to outmaneuver the play in the Kamloops end, only to have their efforts foiled by Hart in the Rockets net until stalwart defenseman Phil Larden, who had just finished sitting out a two-minute penalty for spearing, took a pass from Kasabuch and delivered a hard shot at Hart, skated in front and slammed home his own rebound to tie the game at 6-6.

The Rockets' comeback was a testament to their resilience and skill, as they fought back from a 6-3 deficit in the third period to tie the game at 6-6. FELL, BUT SAVED THE MOMENT

Goalie Ed Johnston of the Boston Bruins gives down on the ice as he blocks scoring try by New York Rangers in the second period at New York's Madison Square Garden. Skating past the fallen goalie was Ed Westfall of Boston and Bruce Horvath of New York Rangers won the game 3-0.

Give Me A Minute More; -Sad Song For Badgers

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Within six points with a minute and 19 seconds left to play, Gary Kroner then added his fifth convert, raising his consecutive string for the game to 32, before he tried an onside kickoff.

The USC Trojans, ranked the No. 1 collegiate power in the U.S. after 10 straight victories, surged to a 42-14 lead early in the fourth quarter and hung on for a 42-37 decision Tuesday as time ran out on the Badgers in the 49th annual classic.

"What I wouldn't give for just one minute more," said Wisconsin coach Milt Bruhn, beamed with pride over his team's 23-point comeback in the closing minutes. "The clock simply ran out on us."

Apparently hopelessly beaten after Southern Cal scored its sixth touchdown in the opening seconds of the fourth quarter, the Badgers rallied for three touchdowns and a safety touch. The Trojans, shocked and bewildered, were like warriors caught in a stampede but time was in their favor.

Ran Vanderkelen, a senior quarterback who set a total offense record for the Rose Bowl, passed 19 yards to all-American end Pat Richter to draw Wisconsin.

Sealed Net Saved Day For Totems

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Eight netminders by Al Miller of Seattle Totems kept Portland Breakers from going on a goal-scoring rampage Tuesday night in the only Western Hockey League game.

Miller made 37 saves from the fast-shooting Breakers who dominated the Totems 3-1 before a hometown crowd of 7,000 to increase their lead in the WHL's Southern Division.

Ken Laframboise, Gerry Gower and Bill Davidson rang the score up to 3-0 by the second period.

Jerry Leonard reacted quickly in the third period to take a rebound shot past Portland goalie Don Head, trying for his second shutout of the season. Head made 23 saves.

Portland now has 43 points from 23 games, seven points more than second-place Los Angeles Blades, who have three games in hand.

Seattle remains in second place in the Northern Division with 33 points, three less than the leading Vancouver Canucks.

Both teams meet tonight in Vancouver in what promises to be a key game in the Northern Division. In the only other game, Calgary Stampedeers meet the Flyers in Edmonton.

Swan Song For Quakers

USTI, Czechoslovakia (CP)—Canada's touring Saskatoon Quakers wind up their exhibition hockey schedule in Czechoslovakia tonight with a game at Kladno, near Prague.

The Quakers, of the Saskatchewan Senior Hockey League, go into tonight's game with a 5-4 won-lost record following Tuesday night's 7-2 victory over Dukla Litomerice here.

The victory was Saskatoon's third straight over Czech hockey teams. They opened the tour Dec. 17 in Prague.

The Canadians, playing in eight-below-zero weather in an open air rink before 8,000 fans, took a 3-0 lead in the first period, led 4-1 at the end of the second and outscored the Czechs 3-1 in the third period.

Maurice Offenberg and Herb Jeffrey paced the Saskatoon attack with two goals each while Charlie Goodwin, Jerry Esch and Bill Lindsay pulled one apiece.

Milan Horel and Josef Goltz scored the Czech goals.

Don Smith chalked up three assists in the Quaker cause while Buddy Rogers and Goodwin had a couple apiece. Also assisting in the scoring were George Hunchuk, George Senick and Jeffrey.

The Canadians began their tour in Sweden after arriving in Stockholm Dec. 12 where they played Dec. 13 and Dec. 14 and suffered their first two losses.

The Quakers are scheduled to arrive in Paris Jan. 5 and plan to return to Saskatoon Jan. 7.

'Money Talks' No Whisper Heard At Rose Bowl Jousts

er, all of Louisiana State, but failed.

Calgary is also believed to have signed Arkansas quarterback Billy Moore, but the report could not be confirmed.

Griffing, a sharp passer and shrewd signal caller, signed with New York Giants of the NFL minutes after leading undefeated Mississippi to a 17-13 victory over Arkansas in the Sugar Bowl.

GOES TO CARDS — Money talks. And that was no whisper in the National Football League was using at the New Year's Day bowl games, flashing fancy figures that lured prized players. Glenn Griffing and Jerry Stovall away from the American and Canadian Leagues.

It was the kind of day that left outspoken Harry Wismer, owner of the AFL's New York Titans, groping for words.

Of 10 college players signed by pro teams, only one is heading for Canada.

Calgary Stampedeers of the Western Conference picked up Arkansas back Jessie Branch but had no competition. Neither of the other leagues had drafted him.

Ottawa Rough Riders were trying to land Stovall, tackle Don Estes and tackle Fred Miller.

UK Swim Star May Emigrate

LONDON (AP)—Linda Ludgrove, Britain's 15-year-old swimming sensation and holder of the world record for the 220-yard backstroke, may emigrate to Australia this year.

Her mother, Mrs. Gladys Ludgrove, said Tuesday the family is contemplating the move to help her husband's career as a swimming coach.

If the plan materializes, Linda would be eligible for residential qualifications to swim for Australia in the 1964 Olympics. Or she could swim for Britain if she preferred.

The pretty teenager set her world record of two minutes, 33.2 seconds at Perth, Australia, five weeks ago when she won two gold medals in the British Empire Games against Australian competition.

Linda's father, 36-year-old Bill Ludgrove, coached her to world status. He is manager of a London meat cold storage firm but wants to be a full-time swimming coach.

"He has wanted the Amateur Swimming Association examination four times and he has lost heart," Mrs. Ludgrove said. "He does not want to leave England but he feels he has no future as a swimming coach here."

She said her husband is seeking a school coaching job in Australia.

Chiefs Edge Canadians

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Fred Gabor and Bruce Harrison scored two goals each Tuesday to lead Kamloops to a 7-6 overtime win against Vernon Canadians in an Okanagan Mainline Intermediate Hockey League game.

Gabor scored the winning goal when he flipped the puck past Vernon goalie Bob Jones at 8:42 of the 16-minute overtime period.

Buck Crawford, Ev Miller and Bob Gannon scored the other Kamloops goals. Jim Pilla scored three goals for Vernon and Art Davidson, Odie Lowe and Ralph Beck added singles.

The win put Kamloops five points ahead of second-place Kelowna Packers.

Basketball Foldup Hurts

PHILADELPHIA (CP)—The three-year-old American Basketball League has folded and nobody was harder hit than Phil Cohen, a basketball booster from New York.

Cohen, owner of the now-defunct Philadelphia Tapers, said Tuesday he was a behind-the-scenes owner of the ABL's Pittsburgh Renos.

When Abe Saperstein's young ABL crashed down around him, it cost Cohen two teams, but he's still hopeful of staying in business. Cohen will try to get a National Basketball Association franchise for Pittsburgh, where the Renos averaged 4,000 fans a game this season.

Bathgate Aims To Equal Record

Smooth-skating Andy Bathgate of New York can equal a National Hockey League record for scoring in consecutive games when Rangers play Toronto Maple Leafs in tonight's only league game.

The 30-year-old right winger scored a goal in his eighth consecutive game Monday night when Rangers play Detroit Red Wings 1-1.

If he can score tonight, he will tie the league record streak of nine consecutive games, held jointly by Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion, both of Montreal Canadiens.

Bathgate, the Rangers' captain, earned $500 Tuesday night without stepping on the ice.

The $500 is a league bonus for the player with the most points after 35 games, and Toronto's Frank Mahovlich — The nearest contender to Bathgate — was held scoreless Tuesday night when the last-place Boston Bruins trimmed the Leafs 3-0.

Bathgate had 38 points at the halfway mark, compared with Mahovlich's 36.

HAWKS BOOST LEAD
 In the other game Tuesday night, the first-place Chicago Black Hawks increased their lead over the second-place Leafs to four points with an easy 4-2 win over Detroit.

Bathgate scored his 17th goal on a rebound in the first period in Monday's 1-1 tie in Detroit, but the Wings' Andre Promovost evened the score 1-1 early in the second period. As usual, Rangers were outshot by a wide margin—this time, 40-23.

Tuesday night, Bruins started out the new year on a bright note by helping rookie goalie Ed Johnston to the first shutout of his NHL career.

But the 27-year-old netminder did his share in the 3-0 triumph, felling Mahovlich, the league's leading goal scorer with 22 goals, at least six times.

Left winger Johnny Bucyk scored his 10th goal of the season late in the first period to give Bruins a 1-0 lead. Centre Charlie Bruns made it 2-0 midway through the second period with a backhand drive, and

"Who says this isn't a LEAP YEAR...?"

"Maybe you can't divide 1963 by four—but in my book it still adds up to a Leap Year.

"I'm starting the New Year with a big leap forward. Tomorrow I take delivery of a brand-new car, and there's a modern stove for Mollie on the way to replace that monstrously in the kitchen.

"Mind you, we did a whole lot of looking before we decided to leap. That's why we settled on the B of M Family Finance Plan in buying our New Year presents to ourselves. The monthly payments are well within our budget, and we couldn't ask for better terms. All our credit needs fitted snugly under that one broad B of M roof.

"This New Year, it's off with the old and on with the new...thanks to the B of M Family Finance Plan."

Hash is not necessarily a mash. When properly cooked, this meal is a favourite.

CORNERD BEEF HASH

Combine equal parts cooked cornerd beef, coarsely chopped, with chopped, raw potato. Add as much finely chopped onion as desired, enough light cream to moisten, and salt and MALKIN'S pepper to taste. Turn into a hot frying pan with a small amount of fat. Spread the hash evenly over the pan. Using low heat, cook until brown on the underside. Fold over like an omelette, and serve at once with chili sauce or ketchup.

BAKED CORNERD BEEF HASH

Spread hash in greased casserole. Bake at 325 degrees twenty minutes and serve from the casserole in order to maintain heat and flavour.

CORNERD BEEF HASH AND EGGS

Place the hash in individual casserole dishes or shape into 3 inch patties, 1 inch thick and arrange in a greased baking pan. Press a hollow in each, and break an egg into it. Sprinkle with salt and MALKIN'S pepper. Cover. Bake at 325 degrees until the egg white is set, about 25 minutes.

Tories Must Be 'Positive' To Keep Socred's Support

TOKYO (Reuters)—Robert N. Thompson, national leader of Canada's Social Credit party, said today the minority Conservative government could not expect continued Social Credit support without a more "positive" economic development program.

In an interview here, Thompson said he is making a fact-finding tour of Japan and Asia to see for himself how the Japanese have expanded productivity and exports, and to study propects for increased Canadian trade in the area. Thompson arrived in Tokyo Dec. 31. He is to leave Friday for Port Moresby. Accompanying him is Dr. Guy Marcoux, the party whip from Quebec-Montmorncy, and Hugh Edwards, a party supporter from Red Deer. Thompson said his party is dissatisfied with Canada's low rate of economic growth. In comparison with Japan or West Germany, and wants to see greater results from the present government during the new year. He said Social Credit is confident of gaining up to 90 seats in a new election expected to take place this year.

Thompson said he found Japanese plants to be well equipped and in some cases more up-to-date technically than Canadian industries may fall behind in modernization through lack of funds and incentives resulting from the "tight money" policy of the government.

QUESTIONS WHEAT SALES
Thompson said he has "some doubts" about the wisdom of Canada's wheat sales to Communist China.

There are some fears in Canada, he said, that the Chinese might not be able to keep up their payments.

UK Freeze-Up Holds Grip

LONDON (Reuters)—Britain today awoke to another arctic cold day with weather forecasters warning of low and heavy blizzards likely to hit the low-lying area late tonight.

The forecasters said "the blizzard will be bad." An Automobile Association spokesman described the road situation as "3D—dodgy, dicey and devilish."

Little snow fell during the night and most rail transport was expected to function normally. But many flights were cancelled at London Airport and long delays were reported.

At least 11 persons were known to have died as a result of the bad weather, and weathermen said the cold was likely to go on for the next day or two.

BUSINESS HURT

The new storm warning came after another inch of snow fell New Year's Eve, adding to the huge drifts caused early Sunday by what one meteorologist said was the worst snowfall in 82 years.

The big snow had a crippling effect on business and industry Tuesday. Thousands of workers were made idle.

Many small villages were isolated. Helicopters dropped food while bulldozers tried to blow away the drifts to open roads and free trapped vehicles.

The estimated cost of clearing away the snow and ice from Britain's roads was put at £20-300,000.

Farmers in the south of England threw away 250,000 gallons of milk because trucks were unable to get through to collecting points.

Thousands of homes have been without bread or milk and at least 2,000 livestock have perished.

On the continent, the big

Science Now Shrinks Piles Without Pain or Discomfort

Find Substance That Relieves Pain And Itching As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

Toronto, Ont. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain and itching. Thousands have been relieved with this inexpensive substance right in the privacy of their own home without any discomfort or inconvenience.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) discovery of a famous scientific institute. Now this new healing substance is offered in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores—money back guarantee.

freeze continued with clear weather reported in several areas.

However, mild weather pre-freezing.

In Stockholm, weather was in soups and north Sweden during the night.
